^{1/} Chester, Pennsylvania figures, beginning with January 1962, are not comparable with those previously published because of the reduction of one reporting office. Figures for prior years have not been revised, but it is estimated that, for the year 1961, they would be decreased by approximately 20 per cent.

^{r/} Revised figures for Norristown and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: Beginning January 1962 figures for Norristown include one less reporting bank, as a result of a bank merger, and its figures are now included in the Philadelphia figures. Philadelphia: January 8,224,981, February 6,936,988, and March 7,950,656. Norristown: January 81,553, February 64,242, and March 74,903. Figures for prior years have not been revised but it is estimated that the effect of the revision would decrease these figures for Norristown by approximately 4 percent; in Philadelphia the effect would be nominal.
