The statistics presented in this document are derived from the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis' Survey of Current Business. The table provides national income and product data, including wages and salaries, proprietors' and rental income, and personal consumption expenditures. The data are presented in a tabular format, showing monthly figures for various categories such as national product, personal income, and personal consumption expenditures. The statistical data are subject to seasonal variation and may be reprinted freely as long as the source is acknowledged. The data are based on statistics originating in government agencies and private sources, which may be subject to change and revision. The table includes both national income and product data and new plant and equipment expenditures.
